

Letters home... first-person seating stories

We've posted a particularly compelling letter, from a wheelchair user who'd tried nearly everything over the last 45 years, here.

"...they have given me my life back."

We love to hear from users of Ride Cushions and Backs. To see more user stories, and to find out how to submit your own, visit the website here.

Seating: it's all we do!

Ride products are designed to help protect skin -- plus -- provide the stability to improve posture and mobility.

Consider this: Competitive products that protect skin through immersion and envelopment are inherently unstable. Posture is sacrificed for skin protection.

Ride cushions manage both skin and posture. Plus, they offer heat/moisture management and are among the lightest on the market!

Pair one with a Ride back support and you've created a highly effective seating system. Shown here, the Java Cushion and Back.

We spend January 1st walking through our lives, room by room, drawing up a list of work to be done, cracks to be patched.
Maybe this year, to balance the list,
we ought to walk through the rooms of our lives...
not looking for flaws, but for potential .

Fun Finds / Resources

- Entering the adapted hobby zone: a look at three hobbyists and the adaptations they've made to get in the zone with their passions, from New Mobility.
- Amazing mono-skier Trevor Kennison pushes the boundaries of what's possible... watch the full video for a real thrill.
- It might be time for a new, or maybe a "reimagined," disability etiquette.

Thanks for reading,
Your friends at Ride Designs

P.S. If you somehow missed the last newsletter... the most-viewed item was a video about holiday gift ideas, although we believe they could be nice lifestyle-enhancers at any time, so still worth a look!
