

And the Oscar goes to...

"No one at Camp Jened could've imagined that those summers in the woods together would be the beginnings of a revolution. Just down the road from Woodstock, Camp Jened was a camp for disabled teens. Directors Nicole Newnham and Jim LeBrecht (a former camper himself) deliver a rousing film about a group of campers turned activists who shaped the future of the disability-rights movement and changed accessibility legislation for everyone."

The Crip Camp documentary won the Audience Award at the Sundance Film Festival and is now nominated for an Academy Award. If you haven't seen it yet, check it out!

Priority: seating

Ride cushions and backs are designed to help protect skin—plus, provide the stability to improve posture and mobility.

Consider this: Competitive products that protect skin through immersion and envelopment are inherently unstable. Posture is often sacrificed for skin protection.

Ride products are designed to help manage skin and posture, along with heat and moisture. Download the Ride: The Range brochure, a quick-start guide to the options.

“Change never happens at the pace we think it should. It happens over years of people joining together, strategizing, sharing, and pulling all the levers they possibly can. Gradually, excruciatingly slowly, things start to happen, and then suddenly, seemingly out of the blue, something will tip.”

-- Judy Heumann, in "Being Heumann: An Unrepentant Memoir of a Disability Rights Activist"

Fun finds / resources

- By working to cheer up the people around you the way a happy person spontaneously would, you'll create the conditions to produce your own happiness naturally... learn more in "A Counterintuitive Way to Cheer Up When You're Down," here.
- Still waiting for a vaccination? We're in the third quarter of the pandemic. Antarctic researchers, Mars simulation scientists and Navy submarine officers have advice for how to get through it, here.
- First time ever: Paralympic Games coverage will air during prime time this summer -- details here.

Thanks for reading,
Your friends at Ride Designs

P.S. If you somehow missed the last newsletter, the most viewed item was a link to a video about a new wheelchair design that adds smart technologies onto an ultra-lightweight, carbon-fiber frame, blurring the lines between power and manual wheelchairs.

Visit our website

Follow us on your favorite social media platform:

